

Your painting can be done from one photo, as this one was, or it can be compiled from several photographs. You could commission a family portrait, for instance, using several snapshots of each person as my source material.

Let me create a beautiful custom painting, with lush, vibrant colors and textured brush strokes from your photos ... all at an affordable price!

Or create an entirely new painting from multiple photos or different backgrounds. I can work with your idea and photos and create something truly custom.

I give a 100% money-back guarantee. In fact, I don't even require a deposit or payment of any kind until you approve of the final image of the painting. I've never had a single request for a refund - not one.

Prices are extremely reasonable, and vary with the complexity of the preliminary work. The basic prices quoted are based on using one source photograph of one person or object, and with a standard painted background.
